

Advertising here is smarter. Find out why & reach nearly 50,000 execs each week.

IN THIS ISSUE:

POLL: Are we in a recession? VOTE NOW!

Executive Spotlight

John Hillen
Global Strategies
Group

January 24th

Dr. Renato DiPentima
Been There Done That Series

January 22nd

Duncan Niederauer
POC Event

Every January, ExecutiveBiz asks area business leaders for their predictions for the year.

Click here to read this year's prognostications from these executives:

Renee LaVigne
Apttis

Sudhakar Kesavan
ICF Int.

Mike Bradshaw
Google

John Chapel
AVIEL Systems

Tim Keenan
HPTi.

John Barrass
STG

Anne Altman
IBM US Federal

Jack Hughes
Alion

Aneesh Chopra
Virginia

Sam Seymour
Centurum

PLUS:

- The Week's Best of the ExecutiveBiz Blog

Executive Predictions

BACK TO TOP

We asked the following leaders in the government contracting space their prediction for 2008.

Sam Seymour

"2008 will be equal parts – challenge and opportunity. We will all be challenged to deal with increased congressional scrutiny on defense spending and we will have the opportunity to deliver a better and more differentiated product to our government customers. Agile companies capable of dealing with constantly changing requirements will have the advantage. We'll see some non-traditional alliances among businesses. We'll have new partners. Businesses focused solely on 2008 will miss the opportunities that 2010 and beyond offer."

-- Sam Seymour, COO, Centurum